MEDICINAL.

Of the periodic pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from disease. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. T. Dolan, of Madison, Perkins Co., Neb., writes: "I was cured of painful periods by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best in the world."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

The sluggish liver made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THIRTEEN LIVES LOST.

Thirteen lives were lost and scores of persons were injured in a fire which destroyed the old Woodruff Hotel, occupied as a hospital by the St. Luke Society, at Wabash Avenue and Twenty-first street, Chicago, late yesterday afternoon. Ten of the victims were roasted alive in the fire, which swept the five floors of the building in an instant. One man jumped from a fifth-story window and was instantly killed.

The fire originated on the first floor of the building, and when discovered it was beyond control. The building was a five-story brick structure, and was used as a hospital for persons afflicted with various diseases, and was crowded with patients. The fire spread rapidly, and the flames were fanned by a brisk wind. When the fire department arrived the structure was a mass of flames, and an alarm for extra engines was quickly turned in.

Blind Alderman William Kent was one of the victims. His body was found lying on the floor of his room, burned to a crisp. Most of the bodies were charred beyond recognition. Many of the inmates of the institution were badly burned before being rescued and two were seriously hurt by jumping from the fourth-story windows.

Many heroic rescues were performed by the early arrival of the fire. More than thirty persons were carried down the fire escapes. Most of the rescues were badly burned while dragging the patients from the building.

Others were hurt in the panic which followed the discovery of the fire. The timely arrival of scores of spectators who assisted in the work of rescue prevented a much greater loss of life.

All the victims who were burned to death were peoned in their rooms. Those who escaped to the hallway were either rescued or jumped from the windows. The victims, most of whom were weakened by some affliction for which they were under treatment, were unable to leave their rooms and many were roasted alive in their beds.

None of the patients who were in the rooms with barred windows was lost. Suffering from the effects of alcoholism and narcotics, many of the patients became wild with fear when the flames shot up the elevator shaft and licked down the hallways.

Refusing to follow the nurses, some had to be abandoned to their fate, while the attendants fled from the words of the doctors and attendants in charge had the hair burned from their heads, and their faces were covered with blisters.

Henry C. Davis, manager of the institution, was one of those most severely burned. When he heard the cry of fire he rushed to Alderman Kent's room, on the fifth floor. The flames had already reached the room, and Mr. Davis was driven back down the hallway to a window on the east side of the building, where he was rescued and carried to the ground. He was seriously burned about the face and hands.

Alderman Kent had been under treatment for some time, and when the fire broke out he was handcuffed. An attendant named Knappman was instantly killed by jumping from a fifth-story window. When the flames shot along the hallway Knappman ran to the northwest corner of the building and leaped to the sidewalk. He fell upon his head, and was instantly killed.

When he appeared at the window the spectators cried to him to wait until a net could be secured, but he insisted on jumping.

While Knappman was leaping to his death another man, Dr. Willis Bunker, of Oregon, Ill., stood at a window on the fifth floor and waited until a ladder could be run up to the window. While the firemen were raising the ladder Dr. Bunker stood in a cloud of smoke and dressed himself.

The fire spread about his head and he leaned from the window gasping for air. By the time the ladder reached the window he was almost dressed, and was carried to the ground by the firemen.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have started in one of the fire-boxes in the boiler room, where the plant for heating and lighting the building is located.

Wants Others to Know.
"I have used Dr. Williams' Early Bitters for constipation and torpid liver and they are all right. I am glad to endorse them for I think when we find a good thing we ought to let others know it," writes Alfred Heinze, Quincy, Ill. They never give or distress. Sure, safe pills. For sale by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volks-Zeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.
